

WHAT IS OFTEN OVERLOOKED WHEN TALKING ABOUT YOUNG PEOPLE WITH AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDER?

Let's see some key points...

Limited opportunities to socialise or get involved.

This is attributed to inadequate proposals for inclusive initiatives and difficulties in effectively implementing them, resulting in a high likelihood of dropouts. Additionally, parents may exhibit reluctance and mistrust if they feel unsafe or fear stigma.

Family involvement

Family involvement is vital for sharing and exchanging fundamental information that is necessary for collaboration, thereby promoting understanding and familiarity with the young person and ensuring educational continuity within the context of the family.

Raising autism awareness among peers and community

Awareness-raising initiatives among young people without Autism Spectrum Disorder could be facilitated through the use of videos, storytelling or peer-to-peer or specialist-led training.

This information was gathered from desk and field research carried out within the YouthASD project

Follow YouthASD project and innovate your organisation's activities

FIND OUT MORE ON THE PROJECT WEBSITE
WWW.YOUTHASD.EU

Co-funded by the European Union

ERASMUS+ n° KA220-YOU-2021-029

Funded by the European Union. Views and opinions expressed are however those of the author(s) only and do not necessarily reflect those of the European Union or the European Education and Culture Executive Agency (EACEA). Neither the European Union nor EACEA can be held responsible for them.